Olukunle Ogundele is currently a PhD student at the school of Mathematics, Statistics and Computer Science, UKZN. He has M.Sc. in Geoinformation Management from Twente University, the Netherland (2008) and in Geoinformatics from the University of Muenster, Germany (2011). He has some years of experience with health information systems, this includes his working experience at Family Health International (FHI), Nigeria.